Press Release

GN-Jabra/Sencommunications Gives Free Bluetooth Headsets, 20 percent Discount at February Tradeshow

GN-Jabra/Sencommunications will offer limited-time deals and showcase new products at the ICMI CallCenter Demo and Conference in Miami, Florida February 13-15, 2008.

Tampa, FL, January 14, 2008: Sencommunications, a leader in the telecommunications industry for over 18 years, will partner with GN-Jabra at the ICMI CallCenter Demo and Conference in Miami, Florida February 13-15, 2008 to help maximize attendees' 2008 budgets and promote several innovative Jabra products. Upon required registration, GN-Jabra/Sencommunications will offer conference participants 20 percent off products purchased through the first quarter. All attendees can benefit from the no-questions-asked trade-in being offered. The GN-Jabra/Sencommunications booth will provide a new BT5020 or BT8040 Multi-use headset for any used mobile headset (corded or Bluetooth) that is turned in. Additionally, Sencomm representatives will distribute stickers to conference attendees for a chance to win one of 100 Bluetooth BT320 headsets.

The tradeshow will include demonstrations and information sessions about the new Jabra GN9120 Duo, which shares all the features of the popular GN9120 Flex with the added enhancement of dual earpieces. Sencomm Specialists will exhibit other GN products, such as the Jabra GN9350 and GN2000 series, as well as those headsets featuring Voice-over IP technology, to demonstrate their functionality and efficiency in a call center environment.
